Three Encompass Team Members Gain Nux Certification

Encompass Content Analytics Platform (EnCAP) team members Brandy Dorris, Charlie Leiser, and Jake West each earned Nux certification last week, joining fellow EnCAP team member Augusta Thompson who gained certification earlier this year.

Nux is considered the “DNA of data” software. This certification reflects advanced knowledge in utilizing Nux software across the Electronic Discovery Reference Model spectrum from Early Case Assessment and data organization, into writing and enacting processing workflows including analytics and culling, through to exporting quality productions supporting document review or exchange, while being able to adapt to multiple data types, large data volumes and working within deadlines.
